Young Ben, Hazwell, out in the field pitching up the last hay on the land, leaned his pitchfork against wered, took off his straw hat to cool his indist forehead. His gaze followed the hay cart, went over the broad lands, and returned.

"The hay is all gone in "lawfid with

"The hay is all gone in," be said, with a long breath of relief." and bould not afford to lose even one load now, I don't know that I can do it; but if I can sell part of the half man. Atwill be a bard pall, though "o al-

The young man followed the eart into the barn. The storm was at its height when he went towards the house from the back way. He stopped in surprise, as he saw through an open window some one standing at the table, with arms bare to the elbow, mixing flour. It must be to the elbow, mixing non. It must no Marths.

No; those fair, white arms are no Martha's, neither her's the slender, graceful figure. As he came neafer, he could distinguish the sparkling piquant face. She was laughing and talking with Hetty; and evidently giving her the directions for what she was making. Hetty was gazing upon her, eager and absorbed. Little Eva was sitting at the table in her high chair, working at a piece of dough.

high chair, working at a piece of dough.
"A tato for Ben." It was as black as her little soiled fingers could make it; but it did not occur to Eva that that could be any objection. It was a pretty sight in that long desolate home; and he stood there unconscious of the pouring rain, eagerly gazing at the young stranger, himself a picture of manly beauty, till the voice of one of the men calling to the oxen, awoke him from his reverie.

By-and-by there was a sputtering of water heard in the next room by Hetty. "Ben. has come," running hastily forward and opening the door.

"Ben. has tum!" echoed the little girl, clapping her hands and lisping, as he came in, bright and smiling, what she had in store for him, "I is made a tat for oo,

He caught her up in his arms and gave her a kiss, while she laughed and shout-Hetty said, prettily: "My brother Ben." Then to him: "This lady got caught in the shower, Ben., and is staying until it clears up. She has been so kind to help me get dinner, and has made some splendid biscuit."

They both stood mute a minute, she with surprise at the real Ben., young, handsome and well bred; he with admi ration and a strange new feeling he could not define. He had hardly made her welcome, with a return of his self-posses sion, when there was a loud rap at the street door. Hetty went to the door, came back pale, and whispered to Ben.:

"Squire Johns."
Millie drew quickly back from the half-open door. Ben. went in to his visitor, closing the door after him, but every word was distinctly heard by Millie, for Squire Johns did not speak in the suave tone she was accustomed to hear him, but loud and peremptory.

"I am in haste, young man; I just stopped to say that the time for the payment of the money due me being day after to-morrow, if it is not ready I shall be obliged immediately to resort to severe "Impossible!" exclaimed the young man, in a surprised and excited tone, "you are very much mistaken. It is not due till the 28th, it is now but the 18th. At that time, if I sell the piece of land I expect to do, I hope, with some other money coming in, to be able to pay it."

"You are laboring under a singular mistake, young man. Here is the mortgage, you can see for yourself that it is the 18th." "Let me see it. "oJ

The figures danced upon the page. He passed his hands over his eyes, and calmed himself with a great effort. He grew ashy pale as he read. TO BE-CONTINUED.

The consolidation of the two most popular Southern Companies is full of advantages to the policy-holders of both Companies. Its expenditures will be less, and with less relative rick. The future dividends will be more certain, and probably greater in amount, and a better reserved fund created.

The future dividends will be more certain, and probably greater in amount, and a better reserved fund created.

NO RIGHT of old policy-holders will be affected; they will continue to pay the same rate as before; to hold the same policies as before; to have the same rights, benefits and privileges as before, and have equal present security with greater future benefit than before. All renewals of old policies will be in name of new Company, under special authority from the respective Directors of the old Companies.

A NEW CHARTEER was obtained with the rights of policy-holders quaranteed, and we call

Directors of the old Companies.

A NEW CHARTER was obtained with the rights of policy-holders guaranteed, and we call special attention to the following desirable features in said charter:

"Sec. 2. The business of the Company shall be to make insurance on the lives of individuals in all the tranches of Life Insurance; to grant, purchase or dispose of annuities or re-insure risks."

"SEC. 4. The business of the Company SHALL be conducted on the plan of DISTRIBUT-ING TO THE POLICY-HOLDERS THE PROFITS of the business, as hereinafter provided, unless by the consent of the assured the policy selected is non-participating."

*Miles. Arrive. Leave. Arrive. Lea BERED REAL ESTATE WORTH DOUBLE THE AMOUNT LOANED."

We would also call attention to the rights secured in policy as part of the contract. Rights of party to non-forfeiture in all its policies:

Rights of party to re-instatement—paid up policy, and sucrender value where "intervention of armies" or any other cause cuts the insured off from home office. This feature, omitted in policies of Northern Companies, cost the Southern people very heavily in the late war, and should make them seek the only Company that provides against such contingency in future. Some Companies now have in their policies, that parties who "take up arms against" certain amed States, "or the United States," render their policy null and void. This is making certain what was before uncertain, and is too great a mingling politics, war and life insurance.

"The PIEDMONT AND ARLINGTON" has a model charier and model policy, plainly stating in the parties and guarding those rights against sacrifice.

It gives dividends at the end of first year, when all cash is paid, and of second year, when part loan is taken. The all cash plan is unreservedly recommended as in every way most satisfactory.

We now confidently appeal to every one interested in Southern prospective to locate the contract.

We now confidently appeal to every one interested in Southern prosperity to look to their own interests, by sustaining their own institutions, and thereby establishing that self-confidence without which there can be no permament prosperity. Bear in mind that already over $10,000,000 are annually sent North for Life Insurance, taking so much from our strength, and thereby giving additional power to our competitors.

We offer a solid, reliable Life Insurance Company, thoroughly Southern, in the hands of men of the highest integrity, with abundant assets, recent risks, the most secure of all investments, pledged to retain within the State of South Carolina all funds accruing therein, and, indeed, presenting every advantage that can be desired; and we only ask a full examination into the superior merits of the "PIEDMONT AND ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY" to insure your patronage.
